Krispy Kreme is not glazing over its warehouse needs as it expands in Manhattan.

A week after announcing plans for a massive Times Square flagship, the doughnut purveyor has signed a lease for about 26,500 square feet of warehouse space in the Bronx. The site, at 525 Zerega Ave. in Castle Hill, will host a regional bakery and distribution center serving Krispy Kreme locations in the metro area.

The deal was announced Tuesday by Simone Development Cos., owner of the property that Krispy Kreme will lease. The roughly 70,000-square-foot warehouse is also home to New York Road Runners, a nonprofit organization.

Krispy Kreme will open its 4,500-square-foot flagship store at 1601 Broadway in Times Square early next year. Until then, the only place to find an Original Glazed in the city is Penn Station.
